

7th Grade

The Karma Factory Music & Lyrics © 1997, 2023 Scott Lippincott, Nursery Rhymes Music (BMI)

Heard it from a friend of a friend that you used to have
She said you said you've changed your mind
She said she only wanted to be my friend
But I heard that one before a million times

Because there was something about this girl
She ran away and she took my world
And all the things she left behind remind me
of 7th grade

Now you know I'm not very popular
And now everyone knows my name
I don't like what's getting back to me
And if lying is the way you get your fame

But there was something about this girl
She ran away and she took my world
And all the things she left behind remind me
of 7th grade

I don't need to complain
Why can't things just stay the same Things were fine the way they were
We just need some time cure

But there was something about this girl
She ran away and she took my world
And all the things she left behind remind me
of 7th grade
